overal colored persons out of sums varying from fifty to hree bundred dollars. The prisoner, by his snavity of nonner, gained the confidence of his victims, and succeeded in swinding a large number of his friends before his real character became exposed. Arice Bayles, formerly a slave, but at present a domestic at No The west Thirtieth street, deposed that the became acquainted with the defectant in November, 1859, and simpleyed him to write some letters to her relatives in the South Subsequently she engaged factor to deposit $150 for her in the Manhattan Savings Bank, and at various other times he deposited smaller sums, amounting in the aggregate to $300. The prisoner suggested that the bank beak should be allowed to remain in his pressession; and Alice, not suspecting any evil design, consented to the proposal. One day last week, however, the complainant ascertained that Easton had drawn all her hard sarrangs from the savings institution, and then for the first time she saw through his designs. She resolved to make a complaint against the scamp before Justice Kelly, which resulted in his arrest by officer Irving, as already stated.
Since the arrest of Easton on the above complaint a number of other victims have turned up, among them Cecilia Butler, of No. 50 West Twenty-first street, who was swinded out of $190 in a similar manner. It is also charged that the defendant played the confidence game on a "colored brudder," in a real estate speculation, and defrauded him of $180. The prisoner made a free acknowledgment of his goalt, and was committed for examination. A hearing will take place in the case at two o'cicek this afternoon, at the Jefferson Market Police Court.

Wife Beating—Probably Fatal Assaultz.—Henry Nel-on was taken into custory yesterday by officer sheares of the Fifth precinct, on charge of beating his wife Anni in a brutal manner. The prisoner, it is alleged, knockes the poor woman down on the sidewalk and beat her asseredy that she was rendered inconsible. She still continues to remain unconscious, and it is feared that the assault will prove fatal. Justice Brenzan committed the accused, to await the result of his wife's injuries.

Winers. Pinkins Will Not Take the Oatt.—The Springhed (Mass.) Republican asys nobody expects Wendell Phillips or his adherents to emist, or to help the country in any way, or to do anything but abuse and insult those who are laboring and dying in its defense. The true way to sitence these malignants is to present to them the eath of allegiance. They won't take it—they will deny that they are citizens of the United States. They merely live on the soil, but are voluntary aliens to the government. And yet these repudiators of the constitution undertake to dictate to patriotic men how the constitution is to be defended. Shame on them.

GEN. PRENTISS HORSEWHIPPED IN ATLANTA, GA.—About three weeks age, the Louisville Journal learns by a lady from Atlanta, a female of that place, reputed a lady, made grossly insulting remarks to Gen. Prentiss, who is a prise of the Fen. He made no reply, but turned his back upon her contemptuously. For this an Atlanta man, taking a company with him, went and horsewhipped the distinguished prisener. God grant that our armies may soon avenge that and a myrkel other outrages.

This enormous export of produce shows what the country can send abroad when a pressure is brought to bear. Two years ago no one would have believed that the port of New York could have sent out $8,000,000 of produce in two weeks without shipping cotton or Southern produce. The leading articles exported last week were as fol-

Had the Mississippi been reopened, as was expected, we might have hoped to have been shipping cotton by this time. As it is, we are importing American cotton steadily from Liverpool, and shipping nothing but those qualities of sea island which are almost exclusively used in Money is very abundant at 4 per cent on call green backs at 105. Much lower rates for money are expected in Wall street.

Exchange and gold were generally steady to. day. There was a fair supply of produce bills at about 125, and some bankers were offered at second hand at 126; the leading houses ask 126% a 127. Gold opened this morning at 114%, rose to 114%, sold at 114% at the second board, and closed that bid. Our receipts from California promise to supply all that may be required for shipment to Europe; but it seems to be expected in the afreet that further issues of paper cannot fail to cause an advance in the premium on pre-

The stock market felt the effect of the new war orders of President Lincoln in a very marked degree this morning. Operators seemed to think that the new levy rendered the triumph of the Union cause a matter of certainty, and felt quite hopeful in consequence. There was an active inquiry for governments at vestorday's best prices. 7.30 notes advanced 34. The speculative list, led by Central and Erie, was all higher. At the first board Central rose 1 per cent, Erie 14. preferred 3/2. Harlem preferred 3/2. Michigan Central %, Southern old %, guaranteed %, Illinois Central %, Galena %, Toledo % and Rock Island %. Bonds were generally inactive. Between the boards prices were firm, without much activity. At the second board the buoyant feeling continued. The new policy of the general government in calling an additional force of 600,000 men into the field involves important financial considerations. The appropriations made by Congress at its last session, and the financial mensures adopted for raising the money required for the prosecution of the war, were all predicated upon the supposition that the army as it then stood, numbering perhaps 430,000 men, would suffice to bring the war to a close. An increase in that army to a million men will require twice as much money. If the troops cost $1,000 a year per head, which was the old estimate, the annual expense of maintaining the army now called for would be something like $1,000,000,000 which would be exclusive of whatev r money might be required for the Navy Department, for 'the construction of new vessels-ofwar, for arms, for interest on the debt and for the civil expenses of government. It is probable, however, that large bodies of men can be fed, clothed and taken care of generally at a less cost per head than smaller detachments; our new levies may, perhaps, be kept in the field at a cost not exceeding $750 a $800 per head per annum. But if our army during the ensuing year costs us $800,000,000, the difference between this sum and $1,000,000,000 is pretty sure to be exhausted by the Navy Department, the Treasury Department and the general expenses of government. This expenditure is much heavier than was provided for by Congress, and to defray it fresh legislation will be necessary in December next.

Mr. Chase will probably have to apply to Congress, when next it meets, for permission to issue another $150,000,000 of legal tender paper, and likewise to negotiate a new loan. A steady succession of brilliant successes, and indications of the speedy further issues of paper unnecessary. But it is hardly safe to rely on such a resource as this. The government has not yet reached the limit of safe paper issues; there is no sign of the currency beng redundant; it still falls short of the specie and paper currency which was in circulation when the war broke out. There will be no danger of excessive issues until Mr. Chase has set over $450,-000,000 of paper affeat. The war, to be successful, must be vigorously prosecuted and speedily brought to a close. It is better in every way for the country to spend $1,000,000,000 in conquering a peace at the end of a year than $500,000,000 in each of two years.

The business of the Sub-Treasury to-day was as follows:-The exchanges at the Bank Clearing House this morning were $19,142,826 86, and the balance

The Boston Journal says: In consequence of the recent great advance in cotton goods, the Ocean Mill, in Newburyport, which has been running only a part of its machinery, is to start up all its machinery at full speed. At Fall River the Watuppa Mill is running half time, and the Massasoit three-quarters time. The Troy Mill will resume operations this week.

BEEF CATTLE.

The receipts of beef cattle at Allerton's Washington drove yards have shown a considerable increase over those of last week, yet they were not sufficiently heavy to exercise any very deleterious influence on the market. The offerings were nearly all good heavy corn-fed cattle, just such as the well to do butchers delight to select from, and had the weather been less oppressive during both of the sales days—Monday and Tuesday—prices would undoubtedly have been fully sustained, if they did not shown a slight improvement. As it was, some of the dealers report a depreciation of §c. a §c. on all grades, while others were lucky enough to realize prices fully equal to our quotations of last week. There were comparatively few sales at over 8c., however, and very few at as high as $§c., which may be considered an extreme rate. There was very little buoyancy to the market, especially during the hottest portion of the day, when the dealers preferred to seek the friendly shelter of the few diminutive trees which adorn the great Bull's Head, or the still more friendly shelter of the "invigorating saloons," where they can obtain a refreshing "draught" now and then. Taken altogether, and considering the exceeding sultriness of the weather, the result of this week's market was fully as favorable as could have been expected, notwithstanding the fact that many called it the hardest day of the season. It was thought that 400 a 500 head would be left over unsold. The range of prices was from 6c. to 8§c., both extreme rates, but the larger preportion seld at about 7%c.

The receipts, though not very heavy, have been ample, of prices was from 6c. to 8%c., both extreme rates, but the larger preportion sold at about 7%c.

MILCH COWS.

The receipts, though not very heavy, have been ample, and with a continued limited demand, prices are barely sustained, and may be considered nominal at our quotations. The bulk of the cows sell at from $30 to $40, and only poor sell lower than the former, and only extras at more than the latter rate,

VEALS.

The market remains substantially the same. The demand continues light, and with fair receipts the market continues to drag. Choice calves find pretty early sale at 5%c.; but very few bring more than 5c., which is about the general price.

SHEEP AND LAMES.

There has continued a steady and fair demand for sheep and lambs, and the market has been characterized by buoyancy during nearly the whole week. The better grades continue to meet with a fair demand from the better class. Butchers who will not deal in anything but the "genuine" article, therefore make early selections from each day's receipts. Our revised quotations above represent the current prices, and the sales at Chamber-lin's, below, afford a protty correct insight into the market at the other yards.
